ROAD MAP FOR REVOLUTIONARIES:

Resistance, Activism, and
Advocacy for All

By Elisa Camahort Page, Carolyn
Gerin, and Jamia Wilson

ON SALE SEPTEMBER 18

"Road Map for Revolutionaries answers all the questions you were afraid to ask, plus some you never thought of. It's portable, requires no batteries or electricity, and was created by three smart women. I recommend it!"

—Gloria Steinem, activist and writer

As marches, protests, and boycotts return to the cultural conversation in the United States and everyday people look to take action and make their voices heard, this hands-on, hit-the-ground-running guide delivers lessons on practical tactics for navigating and protecting one's personal democracy in a gridlocked, heavily surveilled, and politically volatile country. A direct, snappy guidebook on engaging in effective day-to-day activism and advocacy at all levels, aimed at people who want to act but don't know what to do next, Road Map for Revolutionaries uses checklists, interviews, infographics, illustrations, and case studies to showcase the tools for making the changes you want to see in society and government, and provides the resources needed to help you feel more safe, empowered, invested in, and intrinsic to the American experiment.

Authors Elisa Camahort Page, Carolyn Gerin, and Jamia Wilson pull from a shared interest in positive change and diverse cultural, generational, and occupational backgrounds to break down key issues and outline action steps for local, state, and federal levels. The book addresses timely topics such as online privacy, staying safe at protests, supporting marginalized communities, and keeping up the fight for the long term.

About the Authors

ELISA CAMAHORT PAGE, one of the early advocates for social media as a communications and marketing tool, cofounded the pioneering women's media company BlogHer.
